I. Background

UN Women, grounded in the vision of equality enshrined in the Charter of the United Nations, works for the elimination of discrimination against women and girls; the empowerment of women; and the achievement of equality for women as partners and beneficiaries of development, human rights, humanitarian action, peace, and security. Placing women’s rights at the centre of all its efforts, UN Women leads and coordinates United Nations (UN) system efforts to ensure that commitments on gender equality and gender mainstreaming translate into action throughout the world.

Since 2017, the UN has partnered with the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) to advance the Women, Peace, and Security (WPS) agenda. This collaboration includes providing technical support for the ASEAN Regional Symposium on WPS (2018) and the development of the ASEAN Regional Study on WPS, launched in March 2021<sup>1</sup>. These efforts highlight the importance of ASEAN ownership and multilateral cooperation in advancing WPS in the region.

Under the ASEAN-United Nations Plan of Action 2021- 2025<sup>2</sup>, UN Women is mandated to lead on Women, Peace, and Security in close collaboration with other UN agencies leveraging its coordination mandate to ensure the UN system delivers on gender equality and the empowerment of women and girls. The Regional Project, “Empowering Women for Sustainable Peace: Preventing Violence and Promoting Social Cohesion in ASEAN,” builds on the partnership and collaboration with ASEAN, including the recommendations from the ASEAN Regional Study on WPS.

II. Description of the project

The regional project, ‘Empowering Women for Sustainable Peace: Preventing Violence and Promoting Social Cohesion in ASEAN (2021-2025)’ - referred to as “The Project” in this document - was launched on 24 February 2021 with an inception phase from 1 January 2021 until 1 October 2021, and implementation from 01 October 2021 to 30 June 2025. The project is generously funded by the Government of Canada, the

<sup>2</sup> Plan of Action to Implement the Joint Declaration on Comprehensive Partnership between ASEAN and the United Nations \(2021-2025\) - ASEAN Main Portal

Government of the Republic of Korea, and the Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office. The project was endorsed by ASEAN<sup>3</sup> in December 2021, becoming an ASEAN Cooperation project. The main purpose of this project is to advance the implementation of the WPS agenda in ASEAN. Although the Project largely focuses on advancing normative frameworks, capacity building on WPS, and exchange of knowledge and good practices at the ASEAN regional level. At the country-Level the project provides technical assistance to government and non-state actors for the development and implementation of WPS frameworks and strengthens capacity of state and non-state actors on WPS related areas. Regional engagement and implementation have contributed to national implementation and vice-versa. The project acknowledges the importance of addressing the humanitarian-peace-development nexus, given the overlapping challenges of conflict and crises at the sub-national level.

During the implementation, in collaboration with the UN and ASEAN dialogue partners, UN Women aimed to support ASEAN in leveraging and amplifying its comparative strengths in WPS policy and project interventions at both the regional and country levels. The project's ultimate goal is to ensure that ASEAN Member States will advance and strengthen the implementation of the WPS agenda, including preventing violence against women and girls and promoting social cohesion in the region. To achieve this, the project focused specifically on achieving the following immediate outcomes:

Immediate Outcome 1: ASEAN Secretariat, sectoral bodies and institutions have increased access to gender and WPS expertise to develop regional policies on WPS and related frameworks.

Immediate Outcome 2: ASEAN sectoral bodies and institutions and non-state actors have strengthened capacity to implement the WPS agenda.

Immediate Outcome 3: A regional platform for cooperation and advocacy among ASEAN Member States, observer state, sectoral bodies, and institutions as well as civil society and women organizations is strengthened to promote good practices and evidence on WPS.

Immediate Outcome 4: ASEAN Member States, Observer State and non-state actors have increased knowledge and capacity to develop, implement and monitoring WPS policy frameworks and test and upscale innovative approaches to implementing WPS agenda and conflict prevention at the national level

The project contributes to the ASEAN Vision 2025 and the agenda 2030 for Sustainable Development (particularly Goal 5: Achieve gender equality and empower all women and girls and Goal 16: Promote peaceful and inclusive societies for sustainable development, provide access to justice to for all and build effective, accountable and inclusive institutions at all levels). The project contributes to 'Area four' of the UN Women Strategic Plan 2022-2025, "Women Peace and Security, Humanitarian Action, and Disaster Risk Reduction". To date, activities have been implemented regionally at the ASEAN level- with ASEAN institutions and sectoral bodies, and nationally in Indonesia, Thailand, the Philippines, Viet Nam and Timor-Leste-.

The project applies the principle of leaving no one behind, as highlighted by an independent midterm review in 2023, which commended the project for reaching marginalized populations and those most in need.

a. The theory of change

The project is contributing to the intermediate outcome, “ASEAN Member States, Observer State, sectoral bodies, institutions, and non-state actors to promote WPS, including preventing violence against women and girls at the regional and national levels.”

In realizing this intermediate outcome, the project is based on the Theory of Change (TOC) that:

- If the ASEAN Secretariat, sectoral bodies and institutions have increased gender and WPS expertise to develop regional policies on WPS and related frameworks.
- If the ASEAN sectoral bodies and institutions and non-state actors have strengthened capacity to implement the WPS agenda.
- If a regional platform for cooperation and advocacy among ASEAN Member States, Observer State sectoral bodies, and institutions as well as civil society and women organizations is strengthened to promote good practices and evidence on WPS; and
- If the ASEAN Member States, Observer State and non-state actors have increased knowledge and capacity to develop, implement and monitoring WPS policy frameworks and test and upscale innovative approaches to implementing WPS agenda and conflict prevention at the national level.

Then: ASEAN sectoral bodies, institutions, ASEAN Member states Observer State and non-state actors will be able advance women, peace and security agenda in the region, amplifying the comparative strengths of WPS policy and programming among member states, and advocating with member states to share responsibility and accountability for reaching common WPS objectives.

Because: ASEAN sectoral bodies, institutions, ASEAN Members states, Observer State and non-state actors will have strengthened policies and capacity on WPS to ensure a gender perspective is included in conflict prevention, resolution and recovery processes, and social norm change for empowerment of women to lead efforts to promote peace and security in the region.

The TOC is based on the overall assumption that there is a high level of political commitment and that the WPS agenda is seen as a regional priority within ASEAN and ASEAN Member States (AMS) Observer State and key to promote peace and stability in the region. The conditions required for achieving all the key results (at the immediate outcome level) include continued momentum within ASEAN, AMS, and Observer States. This momentum must involve key senior decision-makers who continue to advocate for women's participation and leadership, as well as gender equality, as critical drivers for a peaceful society and social cohesion within ASEAN. It assumes that individual commitments at the leadership level can translate into institutional commitments and structures that will sustain progress over time.

b. Beneficiaries

The primary beneficiaries of the project include women and girls in the targeted ASEAN countries, particularly those who are vulnerable to violence, conflict and crisis in the region. The immediate beneficiaries include ASEAN Secretariat and relevant ASEAN sectoral bodies, including ASEAN Committee of Women (ACW) and ASEAN Commission on the Promotion and Protection of the Rights of Women and Children (ACWC) and Member States of ASEAN (duty bearers) and gender advocates, civil society organizations (CSOs), and associations at regional and national levels (rights holders).

Rights holders who directly participate in the project will ideally be engaged in reflecting on the outcomes of these efforts from their perspective. However, the cost-benefit and feasibility of engaging rights holders as evaluation participants will be assessed during the inception phase, in adherence to a do-no-harm approach. In cases where direct engagement with rights holders is not feasible, representatives of rights holders engaged by UN Women will be consulted for feedback. Any limitations in the evaluation process will be clearly outlined in the final report.

Stakeholder Mapping:

The table below provides an initial overview of key stakeholder groups relevant to this evaluation. During the inception phase, the evaluation team will undertake a more comprehensive mapping to ensure the inclusion of all relevant stakeholders and inform the sampling approach.

Stakeholder role	Specific Group	Main contributions
Target groups of right holders	Women and youth groups Hidden marginalized groups, women with disabilities, women's rights activists, indigenous women Selected Community representatives Civil society organizations Community based organizations	Direct beneficiaries and project participants
Principal and primary duty bearers who make decisions	ASEAN UN Women Country Offices and field presences Ministry of Women and Child Affairs and key ministries from targeted ASEAN Member States (AMS) Bilateral dialogue partners	Development, implementation, M&E of policies

c. Project governance and management arrangements

To ensure close collaboration and coordination with ASEAN, the project is managed by the UN Women Indonesia Country Office, which also fulfils the ASEAN Liaison function. The Country Office coordinates with the WPS team at the UN Women Regional Office for Asia and the Pacific in Bangkok. The Project Management Team consists of international and national UN Women staff based in the targeted ASEAN Member States.

The Project Steering Committee (PSC) was established at the regional level to provide strategic guidance and ensure effective collaboration among stakeholders. The PSC is composed of representatives from:

- ASEAN Secretariat.
- National women's machineries holding the Chair of ACWC and ACW and/or Representatives from ACWC and/or ACW.
- ASEAN Committee on Disaster Management (ACDM).
- ASEAN Institute for Peace and Reconciliation (ASEAN-IPR).

- UN Department of Political and Peacebuilding Affairs-Department of Peace Operations (UN DPPA-DPO).
- Government of Canada.
- United Kingdom Foreign, Commonwealth & Development Office (FCDO).
- UN Women Indonesia Country Office.

The PSC facilitates effective and efficient collaboration among participating organizations and provides overall guidance to the Project Management Team. Its role is to ensure the project remains aligned with its objectives, delivers measurable outcomes, and is implemented successfully.

V. Scope

The evaluation will focus primarily on the 2021–2025 implementation period of the project, with a view toward identifying lessons learned and actionable recommendations for future programming. It will assess the project's Relevance, Coherence, Efficiency, Effectiveness, Sustainability, and Inclusiveness and examine the extent to which recommendations from the Mid-Term Review (2023) have been implemented effectively to adjust the course of action. The evaluation will include Inputs, Activities, Outputs and use of Outputs, and immediate Outcomes and contribution to intermediate and ultimate Outcomes. It focuses on both macro and micro levels. In alignment with the intention of the project, much of the attention of the evaluation is focused on target groups. The evaluation will cover all countries where the project is implemented.

VI. Design (Process and Methods)

This final evaluation will be informed by the mid-term review conducted in 2023, the Evaluability Assessment (EA) of the project finalized in April 2022, the baseline study conducted in 2021 and the project monitoring framework and the existing disaggregated data.

The evaluation will use non-experimental, theory-based, and gender responsive approaches; mixed methods (quantitative and qualitative data collection methods and analytical approaches) will be utilized to account for the complexity of gender relations in the Project countries and to ensure participatory and inclusive processes that are culturally appropriate. If needed, the evaluator will reconstruct the TOC to ensure a robust analytical framework for assessing contributions to outcomes, incorporating any changes to the original TOC. The evaluation team will use various data collection methods to provide evidence-based information that is credible, reliable, and useful. The methods to be used include a review of project documents, key informant interviews, focus group discussions, and survey. Most significant change or storytelling approaches will be utilized to capture how the project has impacted the lives of the participants. The evaluation will engage the UN Women project team, ASEAN and government counterparts, implementing partners, right-holders, and other stakeholders. The evaluator will be expected to develop a sampling frame for data collection, that is representative of all stakeholder groups, including vulnerable groups. Sampling to select the sites to be visited should also be representative. The evaluation methodology should enable achievement of the evaluation purpose, be aligned with the evaluation approach, and be designed to address the evaluation criteria and answer the key questions through credible techniques for data collection and analysis.

To ensure maximum validity, reliability of data (quality) and promote use, the evaluation will ensure triangulation of the various data sources collected using various participatory methods listed below. The entire evaluation will be undertaken as per UNEG Ethical guidelines and consider a human-rights-based and gender empowerment approach<sup>5</sup>. The evaluation experts and all their direct collaborators will follow UN Women's Evaluation Handbook and are bound by the UN Women report assessment criteria (GERAAS), which will be provided upon initiation.<sup>6</sup> The evaluation is expected to report using disaggregated data.<sup>7</sup> To the extent possible, the evaluation will integrate an inclusive approach and ensure do no harm in engaging marginalized groups, including from diverse SOGIESC, persons with disabilities and/or ethnic minorities. Ethical protocol will be developed and annexed to the inception report.

VII. Ethical considerations

UN Women has developed a UN Women Evaluation Consultant Agreement Form for the evaluator, which must be signed as part of the contracting process. This form is based on the UNEG Ethical Guidelines and Code of Conduct. All data collected by the consultant must be submitted to the evaluation manager in Word, PowerPoint or Excel formats and is the property of UN Women. Proper storage of data is essential for ensuring confidentiality and a data protection plan will be developed during the inception phase. The evaluation's value added is its impartial and systematic assessment of the project. As with the other stages of the evaluation, involvement of stakeholders should not interfere with the impartiality of the evaluation. The evaluators have the final judgment on the findings, conclusions and recommendations of the evaluation report, and the evaluator must be protected from pressures to change information in the report. Proper procedures for data collection with rights holders who may have been affected by violence must be adhered to as outlined in the Improving the collection and use of administrative data on VAW and WHO Ethical and Safety Recommendations for research on violence against women. Additionally, if the evaluator(s) identify issues of wrongdoing, fraud or other unethical conduct, UN Women and UNDP procedures must be followed and confidentiality be maintained. The UN Women Legal Framework for Addressing Non-Compliance with UN Standards of Conduct, and accompanying policies protecting against retaliation and prohibiting harassment and abuse of authority, provide a cohesive framework aimed at creating and maintaining a harmonious working environment, ensuring that staff members do not engage in any wrongdoing and that all allegations of wrongdoing are reported promptly, investigated and appropriate action taken to achieve accountability.

VIII. Limitations

The evaluation team will rely on the accuracy and completeness of the provided documents by the offices, with independent verification of the information provided, where possible. To avoid biases raised, the information will be triangulated and validated with the UN Women team, the Evaluation Management team and Reference Groups.

IX. Evaluation management

The evaluation will be managed by the UN Women Programme Coordinator Specialist ASEAN WPS, under the oversight of the ASEAN Governance and Security Specialist and programme Lead. The Evaluation Management Group (EMG) will be comprised of the UN Women Programme Coordinator Specialist ASEAN WPS, the ASEAN Governance and Security Specialist and programme Lead, the UN Women Regional Evaluation Specialist. The EMG will provide quality assurance to the entire evaluation process and approve all deliverables.

An evaluation reference group (ERG) will be established comprising representatives from the key stakeholders and representing the different types of stakeholders (e.g., ASEAN, government, UN, CSO's, donors). The ERG will be consulted throughout the evaluation process: they will provide inputs on the inception report, preliminary findings, and final report to ensure it is participatory and has the ownership of the key project stakeholders. The ERG will participate in the inception meeting, and presentation of preliminary findings to provide feedback and validation.

The evaluation team will consist of an international team leader and an evaluation analyst and five national consultants. The team leader will be responsible for overseeing the entire evaluation process and ensuring the quality of all evaluation products.

The national consultants, in close consultation with the team leader, will:

1. Review and adapt data collection tools as needed and provide translations where required.
2. Submit detailed notes collected during the data collection process using the provided template.
3. Prepare a summary report of key findings from site visits, in coordination with the team leader.
4. Contribute to the development of preliminary findings, the draft synthesis report, and presentations.

The team leader will support data collection in Indonesia. The evaluation analyst will assist with developing the inception report, ensuring adherence to the UN Women Evaluation Handbook, and managing the overall logistics of organizing the data collection schedule of the evaluation.

Overall introductory notes

Name of Interviewee: _____

Designation of interviewee: _____

Organization of interviewee: _____

Evaluation team members present: _____

Thank you for agreeing to meet us today for the interview within the Final Evaluation of the Project "Empowering Women for Sustainable Peace: Preventing Violence and Promoting Social Cohesion in ASEAN" (WPS Project) that UN Women Regional Office Asia and the Pacific and ASEAN have implemented, since 2021.

The evaluation is commissioned by UN Women and carried out by the team of independent evaluation consultants. Consultants introduce themself.

Purpose of the evaluation is to support strategic decision-making, foster learning, and enhance accountability for the results achieved so far within this project and inform the design of the 2nd phase, should there be an interest by the involved stakeholders. This is the first WPS project that UN Women has ever implemented jointly with the regional inter-governmental body, so it provides a critical lessons learned for the organization in the engagement with regional inter-governmental process in translating normative work into operation on the ground. The evaluation specifically focuses on the project results in the WPS normative area and related capacity development and aims to examine its contributions to impact and sustainability of the results. It also aims to identify how capacity development on WPS organised within the project supported development and implementation of WPS policy frameworks as well as how these frameworks were translated into national and sub-national frameworks and results. The findings will be used by UN Women, ASEAN and their partners, primarily national governments, NGOs and CSOs as well as donors to inform future interventions and programming.

The interview will last up to 1 hour. Our talk is confidential, and you will not be named nor linked to any statements in the report. In case we would like to use any quotes from the interviews, they will be completely anonymised.

You are also free to not respond to any of our questions or stop the interview at any time.

Do you have any questions before we start?

Do you agree to continue with the interview on this basis?

Please briefly introduce yourself, your role in the project and since when have you been involved with UN Women and this project?

Relevance

1. How was the alignment of the project with the regional and national priorities ensured? (prompts: How were the needs analysed? What national and international policy frameworks were observed? Were the design and implementation of the project organized in a participatory manner?)
2. To what extent has the project been responsive to contextual changes - including emerging regional and national security threats - to remain relevant?
3. What do you see as UN Women's unique and comparative advantages in relation to other organizations working in WPS? What are the comparative advantages of implementation of the project in partnership with the regional intergovernmental organization - ASEAN?

Coherence

4. To what extent are the project interventions aligned with ASEAN Commitments and UN Women's Strategic Plan and Strategic Note, ensuring coherence with other ASEAN WPS and UN Women initiatives?
5. To what extent have the interventions at different levels (regional, national, and local) worked in a complementary manner? What synergies with other UN Women's and ASEAN initiatives were established and how?
6. What other organisations' initiatives (UN organizations, targeted ASEAN Member States, and donors) has the project connected with?

Effectiveness

7. What results have been achieved to date, in development, financing of priorities and implementation of WPS policy framework? (Prompt: How was the political consensus and commitment reached? What are the results of capacity development initiatives and are knowledge and skills used in practice? What are the examples of policies being translated into practice?)
8. What key factors have facilitated or hindered the achievements?
9. What knowledge products and research was produced during the project and how was it used?
10. Have you seen other positive or negative effects beyond the planned outcomes of the project (access to gender expertise, built capacities to implement WPS agenda, regional cooperation platforms, development, implementation and monitoring of WPS policy frameworks).
11. How were the implementation strategies selected and combined? What approaches proved to be the most effective in achieving the project's intended results, and why?
12. How were the most marginalized groups (i.e., ethnic minorities, persons with disability, LGBTIQ+) reached and what were the key results for them?
13. To what extent has the project created opportunities for root causes of gender inequalities and social norms to be addressed and how? To what extent it contributed to empowerment of women and girls in conflict and post-conflict settings?

Efficiency

14. To what extent was the project management structure and coordination efficient in supporting project implementation at both regional and country level? Possible sub questions:

- Did the presence of a project management function in Jakarta contribute to more timely, effective, and coordinated engagement with ASEAN stakeholders?
- Was the current distribution of functions across locations (Jakarta and Bangkok) appropriate to support effective coordination with ASEAN bodies, ASEAN Member States and implementing partners?
- Did the presence of the project team in Jakarta contribute to strengthening partnerships and fostering new ones?
- What have been the strengths and limitations of maintaining in-country project management presence, and what trade-offs would a shift to centralized management at ROAP entail? How effectively did the current structure facilitate timely decision-making and adaptive management?

Based on lessons from Phase I, what adjustments to the project management structure and location of functions (e.g., project manager, technical leads) could enhance delivery in Phase II?

15. What were the main challenges or bottlenecks in implementation, and were they related to coordination structures, staffing location, or management arrangements?

16. Were the financial and human resources allocated for the project sufficient and utilized efficiently to achieve the intended results? Were the resources invested cost-effectively - in the most effective interventions?

17. To what extent were monitoring, evaluation and learning systems in place to capture results at different levels and provide learnings for timely adjustments when needed?

Towards Impact

18. How did the project contribute the ultimate outcome that the ASEAN sectoral bodies, institutions and Member States, Observer State and non-state actors promote WPS?

19. Has the project contributed to any transformative changes, such as women's agency, shifts in attitudes and behaviours of key stakeholders on WPS and gender equality, social norms, or empowerment and protection and safety of the target groups?

Sustainability

20. How likely is that the project's results, including its policies and frameworks, will be sustained and remain useful in advancing the WPS agenda over the long term after the project ends?

- How often they use knowledge and skills?

23. To what extent did the project contribute to UN Women's capacities and mechanisms for engagement with regional organizations, such as ASEAN and ASEAN Secretariat?
24. To what extent do ASEAN, government counterparts, and CSOs show ownership and commitment to sustaining and expanding the project's outcomes?

Recommendations

25. Based on what we discussed, what are your recommendations for the future? (Prompt: Which components of the project should be carried forward into the next phase, and what positive or innovative approaches can be improved, scaled up, or replicated in similar contexts?)

UN Women Personnel (RO and COs)	ASEAN, national and sub-national governments	Civil Society Organisations

Dear Madam/Sir:

Thank you for taking part in this survey aiming to contribute to the Final Evaluation of the Project "Empowering Women for Sustainable Peace: Preventing Violence and Promoting Social Cohesion in ASEAN" (WPS Project) that UN Women Regional Office Asia and the Pacific and ASEAN have implemented, since 2021.

The evaluation is carried out by the team of independent evaluation consultants.

Purpose of the evaluation is to support strategic decision-making, foster learning, and enhance accountability for the results achieved so far within this project. The evaluation specifically focuses on the project results in the WPS normative area and related capacity development and aims to examine its contributions to impact and sustainability of the results. It also aims to identify how capacity development on WPS organised within the project supported development and implementation of WPS policy frameworks as well as how these frameworks were translated into national and sub-national frameworks and results. The findings will be used by UN Women, ASEAN and their partners, primarily national governments, NGOs and CSOs as well as donors to inform future interventions and programming.

The survey will take between 15-20 minutes to complete; certain questions are optional in the case you are unable to answer.

All data will be treated confidentially without any attribution to your identity. If you have any questions, please contact the independent evaluation team at [\[email\]](mailto:[email]).

Please elaborate on any of the statements (summary):

Overall, respondents find the WPS Program highly relevant and well-aligned with the real needs of women and girls. The program is praised for being evidence-based, participatory, and responsive, ensuring that women have ownership and a voice in shaping interventions that affect their lives.

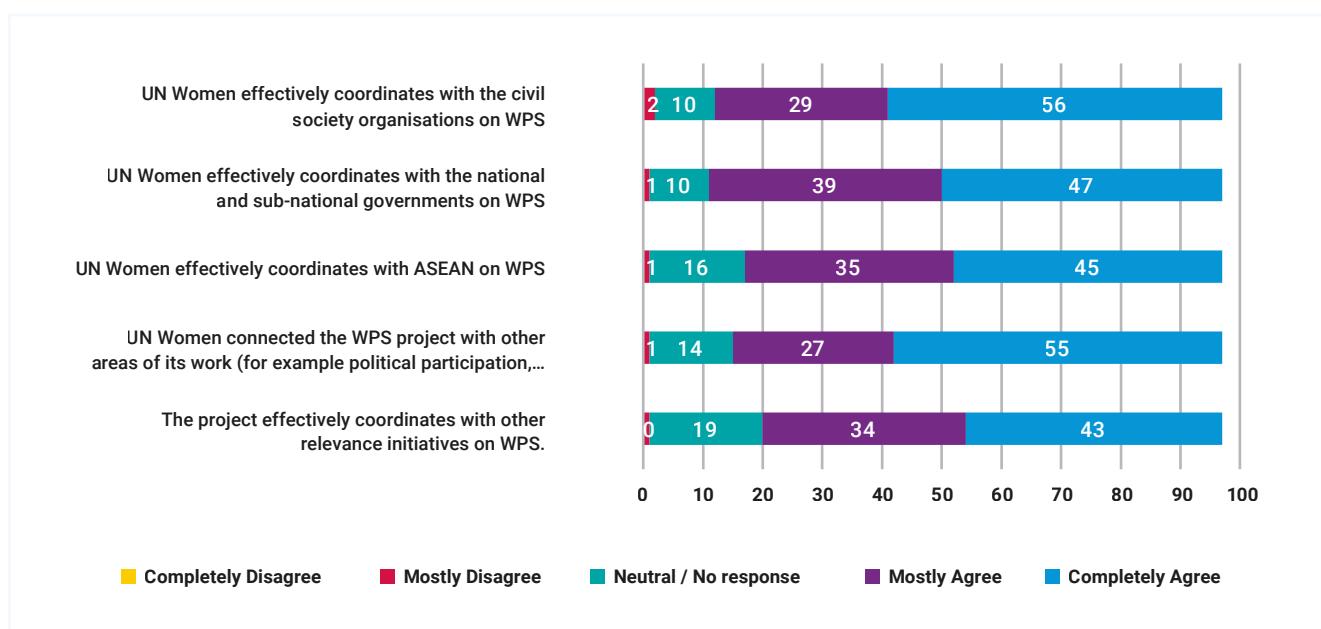

Many highlighted the program's strong contribution to advancing the WPS agenda at both national and community levels. It was recognized for promoting empowerment, participation, and protection, including for women and girls with disabilities. However, respondents emphasized the need to further strengthen the inclusion of women with disabilities, whose perspectives remain underrepresented.

Respondents also suggested that the program should prioritize rural communities, ensuring interventions reflect local realities and specific needs. There was a call to enhance participation of civil society organizations (CSOs) and create more opportunities for their involvement in both design and policy advocacy phases. A few respondents noted limitations in data or direct participation, which prevented them from fully assessing the program's suitability. Some also acknowledged institutional and resource constraints affecting design and implementation.

Thinking of the WPS project, please rate to what extent do you agree with the following statements on project relevance (N=97):

Statement	Completely Disagree	Mostly Disagree	Neutral / No response	Mostly Agree	Completely Agree
The project effectively coordinates with other relevance initiatives on WPS.	0	1	19	34	43
UN Women connected the WPS project with other areas of its work (for example political participation, gender responsive budgeting, ending violence against women, economic participation, humanitarian etc.)	0	1	14	27	55
UN Women effectively coordinates with ASEAN on WPS	0	1	16	35	45
UN Women effectively coordinates with the national and sub-national governments on WPS	0	1	10	39	47
UN Women effectively coordinates with the civil society organisations on WPS	0	2	10	29	56

Please elaborate on any of the statements (summary):

Respondents generally acknowledge UN Women's effective coordination with civil society organizations (CSOs), particularly through regional and central-level collaboration with ASEAN, government ministries, and national institutions. The program demonstrates positive efforts in communication, knowledge exchange, and participation through workshops, consultations, and joint planning.

However, several respondents note gaps at the local level, where coordination remains limited. There is insufficient linkage to economic participation, gender-responsive budgeting, and local initiatives, which weakens implementation on the ground.

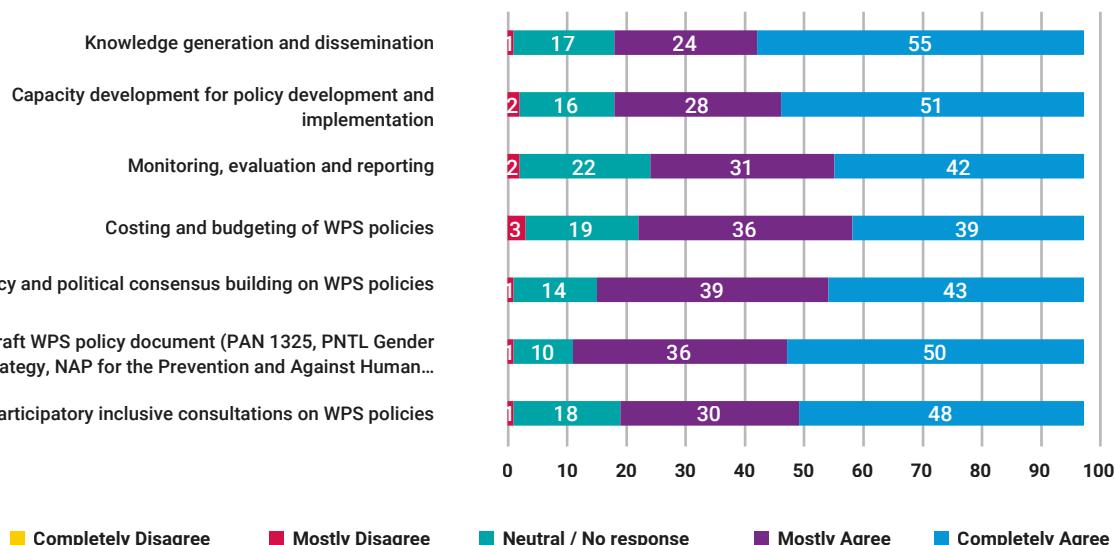

Some participants identify institutional challenges as barriers to stronger CSO cooperation, while others observe that UN Women maintains ongoing engagement through inclusive frameworks but needs to deepen collaboration and empower CSOs in decision-making and advocacy.

Recommendations emphasize the need to:

- Enhance communication and complementarity among stakeholders.
- Strengthen local-level coordination and outreach to women at both grassroots and political levels.
- Continue educational and empowerment efforts for women and CSOs.
- Improve inclusion of organizations representing people with disabilities.

How would you assess UN Women's support and WPS project effectiveness in the following area of WPS policy development and implementation at your level of work (regional, national, sub-national) (N=97):

Statement	Very Ineffective	Mostly ineffective	Neutral / not answered	Mostly effective	Very Effective
Participatory inclusive consultations on WPS policies	0	1	18	30	48
Draft WPS policy document (PAN 1325, PNTL Gender Strategy, NAP for the Prevention and Against Human Trafficking, etc.)	0	1	10	36	50
Advocacy and political consensus building on WPS policies	0	1	14	39	43
Costing and budgeting of WPS policies	0	3	19	36	39
Monitoring, evaluation and reporting	0	2	22	31	42
Capacity development for policy development and implementation	0	2	16	28	51
Knowledge generation and dissemination	0	1	17	24	55

Respondents highlighted both strengths and areas needing improvement in the WPS (Women, Peace and Security) Program.

Key gaps identified:

- Limited dissemination of knowledge products.
- Capacity-building efforts could be more contextualised.
- Few gender-responsive policies exist and limited use of gender-segregated data is present.
- Risk of weak coordination and follow-up after project implementation.
- More involvement of CSOs needed in budgeting processes.

Recommendations and positive points:

- Inclusion of people with disabilities was good, needs to be further enhanced, to involve them in consultations, committees, and implementation of the National Action Plan on WPS.
- Seen improved access to resources from government bodies (e.g., Ministry of Interior) and more support for CSOs to operationalize WPS actions.
- More opportunities for women in policymaking and leadership roles.
- WPS program seen as highly valuable, especially for ASEAN countries and for women's empowerment in Viet Nam—helping women build confidence, self-reliance, and reduce poverty and life risks.
- Respondents acknowledged UN Women's non-discriminatory work approach and strong regional relevance.

WHY?

Capacity Building and Training of Trainers (TOT):

TOT is seen as vital for improving knowledge, developing facilitation skills, and promoting positive mindsets.

Training helps participants educate families, communities, and workplaces about gender equality, prevention of violence, and women's participation.

There is a recognized need for more training opportunities to reach a wider audience.

Promotion of Women's Participation and Leadership:

Continued implementation of PAN 1325 FPS is encouraged to strengthen women's leadership and reduce discrimination.

Training supports the advancement of women in public service and aligns with commitments under CEDAW Article 30.

Conflict Prevention and Mediation:

Mediators highlight the importance of understanding the mediation process and prevention strategies to resolve community conflicts effectively.

Promoting cooperation between women and men in peacebuilding helps prevent transactional crime and strengthen social harmony.

Knowledge Sharing and International Learning:

Participants value comparative studies and learning from other countries to enhance national approaches to WPS.

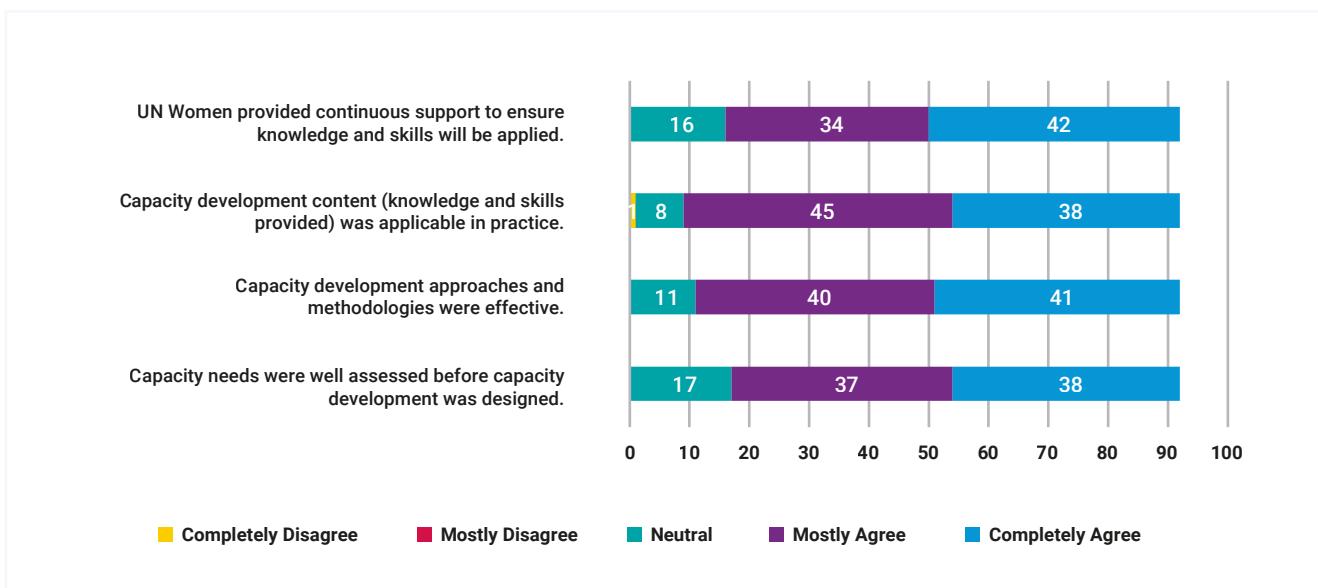

Developing and distributing FPS-related materials is encouraged to support broader knowledge dissemination.

Community Safety and Disaster Preparedness:

Vulnerable communities need more education and awareness to prevent and protect themselves from natural disasters.

Please elaborate on any of the statements (summary):

Participants reported that the WPS program has contributed to improved knowledge, leadership capacity, and gender sensitivity within participating institutions and communities. Training activities on transformative leadership, gender-based violence (GBV) prevention, and mediation have enabled participants—particularly women—to take on leadership and facilitation roles, enhance decision-making skills, and apply WPS principles in their professional and community contexts.

Evidence of institutional change was observed through the integration of WPS concepts into organizational policies, planning processes, and security mechanisms, including the establishment of standard operating procedures (SOPs), women's peace tables, and WPS focal teams. Respondents also noted increased participation of women in leadership and decision-making, as well as improved collaboration between male and female staff.

At the behavioral level, participants reported greater awareness and understanding of gender equality, women's rights, and non-discrimination, with early signs of attitude and practice change. Cases of workplace sexual harassment reportedly decreased in some contexts.

However, implementation remains uneven. Respondents highlighted persistent gaps in awareness at the local level, limited systemic support from national institutions, and insufficient resources to sustain WPS-related initiatives. While progress in institutionalization and inclusion is evident, further efforts are needed to ensure comprehensive and long-term integration of WPS principles, particularly in economic participation, policy advocacy, and local-level engagement.

UN Women provided extensive technical support in strengthening institutional capacity of security and justice institutions in advancing WPS in the country and contributing to adoption and implementation of the second National Action Plan 1325 (2024-2028), and the Timor-Leste National Police's Gender Strategy 2024-2028, and the drafting of key frameworks, such as the upcoming NAP to Prevent and Counter Trafficking in Persons. The UN Women's capacity development programmes have significantly enhanced the capacity of security and justice institutions to plan, implement, and finance WPS-related activities effectively, while incorporating gender-responsive perspectives into their policies and programs. UN Women has played a pivotal role in the consultation, development, adoption and implementation of the second NAP 1325. UN Women provided technical support to the Ministry of Interior (MOI) throughout the process, which included capacity development of the key stakeholders, national consultations, drafting the NAP, and validation workshops to finalize the NAP, in line with the UNSCR1325, CEDAW and the Beijing Platform for Action. With the support of UN Women, a robust Monitoring and Evaluation Framework has been developed for the second NAP 1325, designed to enhance accountability and equip both government and civil society members with the requisite tools for systematically tracking progress, monitoring and reporting gender equality outcomes, and ensuring the effective implementation of WPS commitments. UN Women's capacity development programme and technical assistance have proven effective in enhancing the National Parliament and Women Parliamentary Caucus's roles in promoting gender-responsive budgeting (GRB). This support has played a significant role in securing an increased allocation in the 2025 State Budget for the NAP 1325, Maubisse Declaration and other gender commitments, reflecting a strengthened focus on women's participation in peace and security, as well as the empowerment and development of rural women. These efforts have also facilitated parliamentary oversight of key national gender commitments, including the NAP 1325, the NAP on Gender-Based Violence (NAP GBV), and CEDAW. These advancements highlight Timor-Leste's ongoing commitments to aligning financial resources with both national and international gender equality and WPS objectives. Specifically, the MOI has allocated over USD 1.5 million to its Subprogram for the Prevention of Community Conflicts and Peacebuilding, reflecting a strong focus on conflict prevention and community-based peacebuilding. This increased budget has also strengthened the national mediation ecosystem in the country which fall within the purview of WPS, promoting women leadership in conflict prevention and resolution efforts. Amongst the national mediators from the National Directorate for Community Conflict Prevention (DNPCC), women represent 81 out of 267 mediators (30%) across all municipalities and Special Administrative Region (RAEOA), in 2024.

Institution lead the implementation of the developed policies - allocation of funding to NAP WPS 1325, Police Force Gender Strategy and NAP on Human Trafficking - Participants of the ToT can deliver the training to others professionally - master on the materials delivery as well as facilitating skills.

UN WOMEN EXISTS TO ADVANCE WOMEN'S RIGHTS, GENDER EQUALITY AND THE EMPOWERMENT OF ALL WOMEN AND GIRLS.

As the lead UN entity on gender equality and secretariat of the UN Commission on the Status of Women, we shift laws, institutions, social behaviours and services to close the gender gap and build an equal world for all women and girls. Our partnerships with governments, women's movements and the private sector coupled with our coordination of the broader United Nations translate progress into lasting changes. We make strides forward for women and girls in four areas: leadership, economic empowerment, freedom from violence, and women, peace and security as well as humanitarian action.

UN Women keeps the rights of women and girls at the centre of global progress – always, everywhere. Because gender equality is not just what we do. It is who we are.
